

Playing a YouTube Video in Collaborate via Sharing your Screen – Collaborate Ultra Tutorial

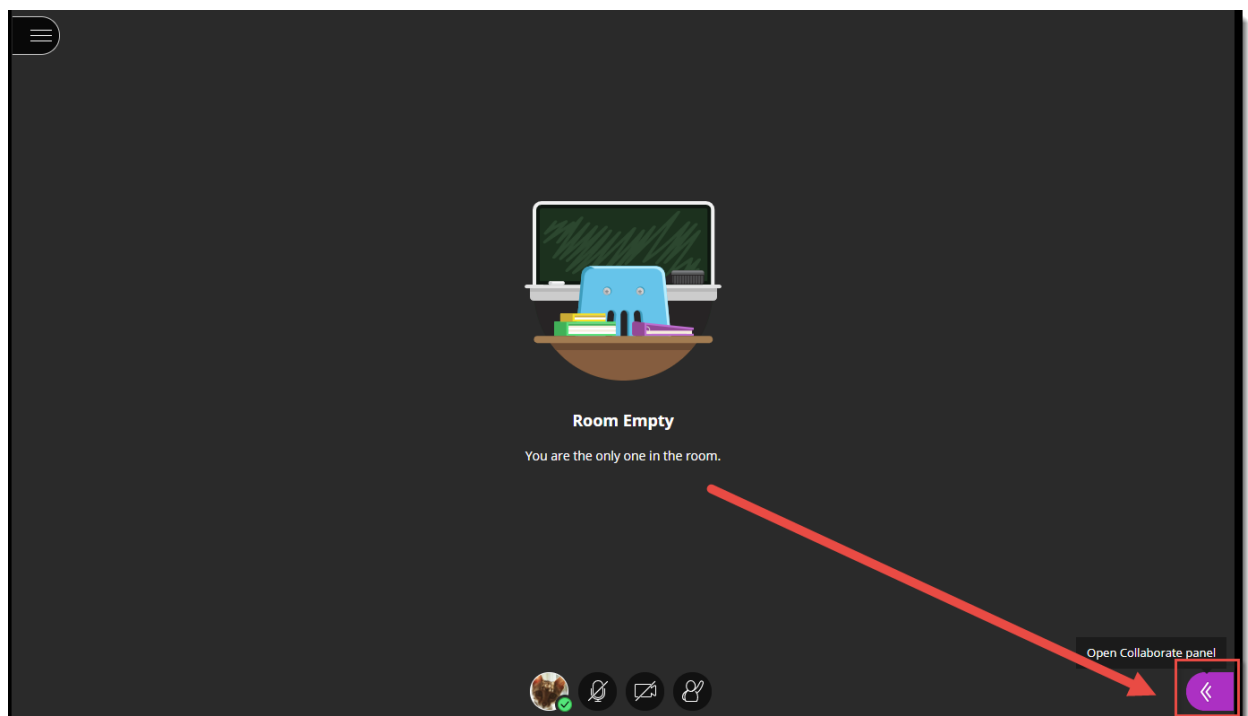

This tutorial is designed for faculty who have previous experience using Blackboard Collaborate Ultra. For further information, please contact elearning@camosun.ca for assistance.

Scenario

This tutorial will cover how to play a YouTube video for your students through screen sharing within your Collaborate Ultra session. Note that in order for sound to play in a YouTube video being shared in Collaborate, you will need to open your Collaborate session in Chrome.

Steps

1. Go to Collaborate), click on your Collaborate session, and enter your session.
2. Open another tab in Chrome, find your YouTube video, and cue it up so it is ready to share.
3. Open the Collaborate panel (the bottom right icon).

6. Click Chrome Tab, select Share audio (at the bottom), click the tab containing the YouTube video you wish to share, then click Share. If you do NOT select Share audio, students will NOT be able to hear the video.

7. You will now be able to play the YouTube video for your students. Click Stop when ready to return to your Collaborate session. Note: You may need to find the Chrome tab for the Collaborate session, as you may return to the YouTube tab.

Things to Remember

If you have trouble sharing and playing the YouTube video for students, share the URL for the video in Chat, and ask students to open and view the video in another browser tab, and come back to the Collaborate session when they are done.
